We started writing on

How to Use This Book

Children say the most wonderful things: wise, funny, sweet and completely unexpected. Then a week goes by, and the exact words are gone. This book is a place to catch them.

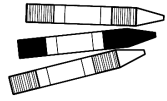

Every even page holds one big quote, with room for who said it, how old they were, what was happening, and what you said back. Every odd page holds three quick ones for the days you only have a minute.

The four chapters follow a family's day, from the kitchen table to bedtime, but you can write anywhere you like. Each big page has a small prompt at the top; treat it as a nudge, not a rule.

Write the words exactly as they were said, mistakes and all. The mistakes are often the best part.

At the back you will find a family dictionary for words only your house uses, pages for big questions, jokes and things they were absolutely sure of, room for whole conversations, and a letter to read when they are grown.

There is space for more than one child, so brothers, sisters and cousins can share the book.

NOTES

Thank You

Thank you for keeping your children's words in this little book. We hope it fills up with the kind of lines your family will be quoting at birthdays and weddings for years to come.

If you enjoyed it, a short review on Amazon helps other families find it, and it means a great deal to a small, independent author.
