

CLEAR SKIES OVER FROSTWOOD

On clear winter nights, the Frostwood Star Club climbs from the village green to the little observatory on the roof of the lodge. This year the snow clouds have smudged every chart.

180 patches of sky need their stars put back. Each one is a Star Battle puzzle: place stars so that every row, every column and every outlined region holds the same number of them, one or two, and no two stars ever touch, not even at the corners.

Every puzzle has exactly one solution, checked by computer, and every one can be solved by logic alone, with no guessing.
