

SHADE THE SQUARES, FIND THE PICTURE

Every winter a sketchbook waits on the sitting-room table at the Frostwood Lodge. This year each drawing was written down in numbers, so anyone could draw it again.

140 sketches wait inside, from the fireside to the mountaintop. Each is a nonogram (also called hanjie or paint-by-number): the numbers on every row and column tell you which squares to shade, and a picture appears.

Every puzzle has exactly one solution, checked by computer, and every one can be finished line by line with no guessing.
