Dig Out the Village

After the deepest snowfall of the winter, Frostwood wakes up snowed in. Out come the shovels: one long path must link every corner, with neat patches of snow left in between.

160 maps of the digging are left, from the lodge garden to the high meadows. Each one is a Nurikabe puzzle: shade one connected path, never a 2×2 block, so that every number sits in a snow patch of exactly that many squares.

Every puzzle has exactly one solution, checked by computer, and every one can be solved by logic alone, with no guessing.
